

OCTOBER 2026

HUNTER INSIGHTS

Rooted in History.
Focused on the Future.

From Strong Roots to Lasting Growth

As America celebrates its 250th year, it is worth stepping back from the daily market headlines and today's challenges. Uncertainty has accompanied every chapter of market history, and each generation of investors has faced its own set of obstacles and opportunities. Throughout the nation's history, the U.S. economy and capital markets have continued to move forward, adapting to change and creating new opportunities along the way.

The transformation has been remarkable. Markets that once relied on handwritten ledgers and information carried by horse or ship have evolved into a globally connected financial system that can direct capital across the world in moments. As progress continues, a long-term perspective paired with diversification and discipline helps investors navigate a world where forecasts are imperfect, and uncertainty is inevitable. The lesson from history is clear: markets evolve and the path of progress is rarely straight, but enduring success is built on a strong foundation and the patience to stay the course.

As we navigate our 35th year in business, we are reminded that lasting growth begins with strong roots. Founded in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and later expanding into Salem, Ohio, Hunter Associates has grown into a trusted partner serving clients and friends far beyond the communities where we began. Like the markets we navigate, our firm has evolved over time, while our foundation has remained firmly rooted in the same values that have guided us from the beginning.

Since 1992, we have believed that our work extends beyond investment management. At its heart, our role is helping clients turn their long-term aspirations into reality. While our firm has grown far beyond what we imagined when we opened our doors, that growth has simply allowed us to build more meaningful connections and serve more people. Our commitment to providing true and lasting value for our clients, friends, and associates remains as unwavering today as it was on day one.

DISCLOSURES & OTHER INFORMATION

Articles posted on the Hunter Associates Insights page are provided for general educational purposes only. Hunter Associates has not independently confirmed the accuracy or completeness of the information contained in the articles. The content on the Hunter Associates Insights page should not be construed as tax, personal financial planning, or financial advice. Please consult a qualified professional about your personal situation. The information presented in this article is current as of 10/6/2026.

Investments are not FDIC-insured, they may lose value. Hunter Associates, LLC is a dually Registered Broker-Dealer, Member FINRA/SPIC, and an SEC-Registered Investment Adviser.